SOFT SKILLS

Curious, creative, and always driven by the desire to innovate, I thrive in spaces where technology meets imagination. My passion for virtual reality and game development stems from a love of creating immersive experiences, but at my core, I am motivated by a broader curiosity about the world. Whether I'm building a new game or learning a new skill, I approach challenges with enthusiasm and persistence, enjoying the process of problem-solving and growth. Collaboration excites me, as I believe that the best ideas are born from diverse perspectives.
